PREFACE

The first National Conference on Language Education and Technology is the first national conference program held by Department of English Education, Faculty of Teacher Training and Education, Universitas Muhammadiyah Cirebon, Indonesia in September 2021. It is held to cater the needs for all TESOL experts, students, teachers, and researchers to having experienced of insightful dialogue also personal and professional development and networking on the topic but not limited to Language Education and Technology.

It has been almost 2 years since all teachers including English language teachers need to conduct virtual classroom so that the students follow the learning process accordingly while in quarantine due to COVID19 pandemic. Through the distance learning, not only the students who need to adapt and learn new ways of teaching but also the teachers are challenged to find new learning strategies, tools, and approach appropriate for their classes. The government also forced to act quickly and properly to create the best possible policy for education during the pandemic.

As Indonesia’s COVID19 mitigation efforts to decline the rapid spread of the virus have been done successfully, some areas in Indonesia are labeled as green areas where face to face learning are allowed by adhering to the health protocols. However, the education processes cannot be conducted fully face to face. The needs to combine distance learning with face-to-face learning are inevitable.

The first National Conference on Language Education and Technology chose the theme “Blended Learning in English as Foreign Language Classroom: Implementation and Implication” with the hope that all participants, students, teachers, researchers, and experts have inspiring and insightful experience and discussion with regard to blended learning in EFL classroom from the conference.

We would like to express our sincerest thanks to all the key note speakers (Pupung Purnawarman, M.S.Ed., P.hD, Associate Professor Dr Jonathan Newton and Finita Dewi S.S., MA) who have shared their insightful knowledge in this event, for the presenters and all participants. We would also like to express special thanks to all the committee members that worked really hard to make this national conference a quality event, hopefully all of us benefited from the excellent work of the committees.
